

Circus Harmony members expected to return Tuesday

Twelve St. Louisans who are part of Circus Harmony are expected to return home Tuesday morning after being stuck in Israel.

Brandie Piper, KSDK 6:36 a.m. CDT July 29, 2014

ST. LOUIS – Twelve St. Louisans who are part of Circus Harmony are expected to return home Tuesday morning after being stuck in Israel.

Circus Harmony is a non-profit organization that was touring Israel. They were supposed to return last week, but the conflict between Israel and Hamas extended their stay after the FAA banned flights to and from Israel.

According to a blog post on Circus Harmony's website, they'll arrive in St. Louis around 9 a.m.